Cocktail Party on the Marina?

As the sun sets and its bright orange reflection bounces across the water, what could be nicer than to be drinking a cool cocktail, basking in the late, warm, evening sun and talking about buying your perfect dream home in Portugal?

That's exactly what we will be doing next Friday 30th September at 5pm. And guess what? You're invited to join us! This week we will be joining forces with one of the biggest and best developers in Vilamoura to discover more about their new development which has just been launched. If you'd like to join us and hear more then let us know by clicking the link below, completing the information and we will be in contact.

We look forward to seeing you there and having a wonderful time. Bottoms up!
