The hunt for your Easter Egg!

The tradition of Easter eggs has its roots in ancient pagan traditions that celebrated the arrival of spring and new life. Eggs have long been seen as a symbol of fertility and rebirth, as they represent new life emerging from seemingly lifeless shells. With the advent of Christianity, the symbolism of the egg was adapted to represent the resurrection of Jesus Christ, which occurred around the same time as the spring equinox.

The practice of decorating eggs for Easter is believed to have originated in medieval Europe, where eggs were painted with bright colours and intricate designs to represent the coming of spring and new life. In many cultures, eggs were also given as gifts during the Easter season, a tradition that continues to this day.

In modern times, Easter eggs are often made from chocolate and filled with candy or other treats. Many people also enjoy the tradition of hunting for Easter eggs, which involves hiding eggs for children to find and collect. This tradition has become popular in many countries around the world and is often associated with Easter.

celebrations.

Overall, the tradition of Easter eggs has evolved over time, but the symbolism of new life and rebirth remains at its core. Whether you're decorating eggs with your family or enjoying a chocolate egg, the Easter egg is a timeless symbol of hope and renewal.

Testimonial Of The Week

I was initially introduced to David Rowat at the Your Overseas Home Virtual Event in November 2021. I signed up for the virtual event due to the range of services it offered and was pleased to listen to David's seminar about Portugal. I decided to be proactive and contact David.

After an informative telephone conversation, I booked flights and came to Portugal. Having met David and his team in the office, I felt very relaxed to be guided by him. I hadn't been to the Algarve before but David shared his knowledge of all the areas and their particular characteristics. David gave us a thorough tour of properties available and we spent our own time doing some research.

I am quite particular as to what I like but I'm now delighted to be reserving an apartment in Vilamoura and I'm grateful to OliveHomes.com, Smart FX and the Your Overseas Home Virtual Event for making a long-term dream into a wonderful reality.
